Foreword

The Boston College Fact Book is a summary of significant statistics gathered from various sources throughout the University. Once again, we wish to extend sincere thanks and appreciation for the excellent cooperation and assistance received from these many sources. We wish to extend particular thanks this year to Jana Spacek, Graphic Designer from the Office of Communications, for her assistance in re-designing and re-formatting this year's publication.

The purpose of the Fact Book is to produce a single-source publication and reference document touching upon and integrating all aspects of the institution's people and its operations. We do wish to point out to all users that the information presented herein was compiled at a specific-time — September-October, 1985 — to reflect the Academic Year 1984-1985, as well as the most current enrollment statistics for 1985-1986.

The majority of the information is extracted from management reports produced on a regular basis by the various source offices. When reviewing the figures presented we advise you to always note the time frame referenced in the individual tables, and to contact responsible offices should you have further questions.

With this 14th edition, we continue our efforts to make the Fact Book as current as possible, as well as an historical overview. We welcome suggestions for additional data and improvements.

2 A Brief History

St. Mary's Hall (1917), Bapst Library (1928), Gasson Hall (1913), and Devlin Hall (1924), circa 1937.

Boston College A Brief History

Boston College was founded by the Society of Jesus in 1863, and is one of twenty-eight Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States. With three teachers and twenty-two students, the school opened its doors on September 5, 1864. While it remained a small liberal arts college, the faculty was predominantly Jesuit, but today's full-time faculty is comprised of 40 Jesuits and 525 laymen and women. Part-time faculty positions are held by 22 Jesuits, in addition to 27 Jesuit members of the university administration.

Originally located on Harrison Avenue in the South End of Boston, where it shared quarters with the Boston College High School, the College outgrew its urban setting toward the end of its first fifty years. A new location was selected in Chestnut Hill, then almost rural, and four parcels of land were acquired in 1907. A design competition for the development of the campus was won by the firm of Maginnis and Walsh, and ground was broken on June 19, 1909, for the construction of Gasson Hall. It is located on the site of the Lawrence farmhouse, in the center of the original tract of land purchased by Father Gasson, and is built largely of stone taken from a quarry which occupied part of the sites of Devlin, Higgins, and Cushing Halls. The foundations were blasted out of solid ledge. Because of its historic value, Gasson was completely restored in 1976 in order to preserve its familiar Gothic spires for future generations of students and alumni.

Later purchases doubled the size of the property, with the addition of the upper campus in 1941, and the lower campus with the purchase of the Lawrence Basin and adjoining land in 1949. In 1974 Boston College acquired Newton College of the Sacred Heart, a mile-and-a-half from the main campus. With fifteen handsome Georgian buildings standing in a park-like estate of forty acres, it is now the site of the Boston College Law School, as well as several academic departments, and dormitories housing over 800 students, primarily freshmen.

Though incorporated as a University since its beginning, it was not until its second half-century that Boston College began to fill out the dimensions of its University charter. The Summer Session was inaugurated in 1924; the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences in 1925; the Law School, 1929; the Evening College, 1929; the Graduate School of Social Work, 1936; the College of Business Administration, 1938. The latter, along with its Graduate School established in 1957, is now known as the School of Management. The Schools of Nursing and Education were founded in 1947 and 1952, respectively. Weston Observatory, founded in 1928, was accepted as a Department of Boston College in 1947, offering courses in geophysics and geology to graduate students.

In 1927 Boston College conferred one earned bachelor's degree and fifteen master's degrees on women through the Extension Division, the precursor of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, the Evening College, and the Summer Session. Today's women students comprise 58 percent of the University's enrollment, and 42 percent of a total alumni body of over 86,000.

Now the fourth largest private university in New England, with full- and part-time enrollment of over 14,000, Boston College consists of eleven schools, colleges, and institutes offering thirteen degree programs and one certification program.

<sup>3</sup>Students who are enrolled at least half-time in an undergraduate degree program are eligible to apply for these grants. Formerly Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, Pell Grants are awarded to students with need, and eligibility is determined directly by the Federal Government.

<sup>4</sup>Available to students enrolled at least half-time in an undergraduate degree program. These grants are awarded to students with exceptional need and are termed "last resort."

<sup>5</sup>Available to undergraduates and graduates enrolled at least half-time. These loan funds are obtained by Federal Government contributions, Boston College contributions and collections of previous loans awarded. The loans have up to a 10-year repayment period with an interest rate of 5% per year on the unpaid balance.

NOTE: In an effort to minimize statistical detail, the above data does not include Boston College graduate student assistance (approximately $2,967,263 in 1984-85), administered by the various schools and departments. Also excluded are the Nursing and Loan Programs ($95,500 in 1984-85), a variety of government fellowships or scholarships from fraternal organizations and clubs ($1,002,957 in 1984-85), and Higher Education Loans processed by the Financial Aid Office and disbursed by banks ($14,455,271 in 1984-85), all of which are open to both undergraduate and graduate students. (In addition to these programs, the Student Employment Office placed 3,559 students in summer and term jobs both on and off campus, and the university processed parental loans totaling $3,369,863 from banks and the Massachusetts College Student Loan Authority.)

"The Year Of The Library"

Some 1,500 well-wishers gathered on the plaza of the Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr. Library on October 14, 1984 to commemorate the opening and dedication of the University's new research facility. In his dedication address and introduction of O'Neill, President Monan singled out the Speaker as an outstanding example of an alumnus who embodies the ideals of learning and leadership that are part of the Jesuit educational tradition. "The name inscribed in the granite of the Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr. Library is addressed to our students and to students of all ages everywhere. It says that wisdom and the personal search for knowledge are a university's most treasured possession, but that knowledge and learning must not be allowed to become sterile. Knowledge is creative; it does not reach its full purpose unless it is taken beyond the university — into the family, and the church, the business world, and the chambers of government. . . . In the library, then, we have the symbol and fruit of the University's search for wisdom. In its name, as the Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr. Library, we have a graduate's name that has become synonymous with leadership in public service."

The audience gave a festive standing ovation to Speaker O'Neill, the statesman and alumnus in whose name the structure was dedicated. The Speaker responded in kind when he rose to the podium for his speech. "Today we dedicate a new library, but more than that we renew our commitment to the community that means so much to us — Boston College . . . I have declined many offers to name buildings after me. Quite honestly, I do not believe in naming them after public officials who are still in office. But this time I made an exception because this college has meant so much to me, to my family and to my community. I am proud of its past and I am proud to play a part in its future."

The O'Neill Library, the largest building on campus at 205,000 gross square feet, is located on the middle campus area of the University's Chestnut Hill campus. The site is a sloping hillside which is integrated in the design of the building through placement of the library's main entrance on the third floor of the five-story building. Thus, upon entry to the building, patrons are no more than two floors away from any of the material or services they may wish to use.

The O'Neill Library forms a quadrangle with three existing campus buildings: Gasson Hall, Devlin Hall, and St. Mary's hall. The resulting pedestrian plaza is paved in brick and terraced to form small outdoor seating areas with low plantings of shrubs and decorative trees. The building is clad in thermal finished granite quarried in Minnesota. It is centrally heated and air conditioned and serviced by two elevators. The interior decor features wall-to-wall carpeting in nearly all public areas; furnishings and cabinet work are in a natural oak finish.

Of the 205,000 gross square footage, 147,755 square feet are assignable. The $28-million structure has the capacity to house some one million volumes, and can be expanded to accommodate another quarter million. The seating capacity of 1,150 is also expandable to 1,350. The library combines the functions previously contained in the Bapst, Management, Science and Nursing libraries. In addition, the building contains three new services: a media services department; a library photocopy center; and a vision resources room. The building also houses the University Computer Center, a 140-station public computer terminal area, nine classrooms, a faculty research office space, and the University Telecommunications Center. The facility can accommodate approximately 80 permanent library staff in a variety of private, semi-private and open office-work station configurations.

Special Library Services

Computer Search Service

In 1974, the Boston College Nursing Library became the first nursing library in the United States to receive a contract from the National Library of Medicine for the MEDLINE database. Since then the Boston College Libraries have added computerized databases for the humanities, social sciences, education, medicine and health sciences, business and economics, pure and applied sciences, and engineering. These include among others: BRS Inc., DIALOG, SDC (System Development Corporation), NLM (National Library of Medicine), Dow-Jones Retrieval Service, VU-TEXT, Mead Data Central (for NEXIS only on Chestnut Hill campus), Pergamon-Infoline, H. W. Wilson Company (WILSONLINE), and STN International. There are also available in the libraries many multidisciplinary databases which cover specific types of publications (e.g., dissertations, government publications, patents).

The Law School Library has access to LEXIS and WESTLAW as well as NEXIS and DIALOG. Access to some of these files may be limited by contract to members of the Law School community.

Beginning in September 1985, the Libraries will offer access to BRS After Dark, a system designed for use by individuals who have little or no system or database experience. Other end-user systems will be added. These systems do not replace the traditional computer search process; they are an adjunct to it.

Contact the appropriate reference librarian or service desk for more information or to arrange for small group discussions or demonstrations, presentations to classes, or to department meetings.

Automated Catalog

The Boston College libraries have an automated on-line catalog which provides access to almost a half-million bibliographical records. The catalog may be searched by author, title, subject, call-number, or keyword-in-subject headings and titles.

Interlibrary Loan

The Interlibrary Loan Service is offered to students, faculty, administration and staff to facilitate obtaining materials not available in the Boston College Libraries. Books, photocopies of journal articles, microfilm, theses, and government documents may be borrowed from other libraries. Except for unusual items, the waiting period is from one to four weeks; for anyone willing to use the material at the holding library, a computerized system will provide locations within twenty-four hours of the request. Request forms and further information are available from the reference staff in each library.

Boston Library Consortium

The library is a member of the Boston Library Consortium, a group of area libraries which includes Brandeis, Boston University, Tufts, Wellesley, Northeastern, MIT, Massachusetts State Library, Boston Public Library, and University of Massachusetts. Faculty and graduate students may apply for a Consortium borrowers card at the reference department in O'Neill. The Consortium maintains a central office at the Boston Public Library. Further information may be found in the User Guide and the Consortium Handbook, available in all libraries.

United States Government Publications

In 1964 Boston College was designated as one of the Federal Depository Libraries for this congressional district. This status entitles the O'Neill Library to receive, on a selective basis, United States government publications at no cost with the stipulation that they be made available to the general public. Most of the material circulates in the same manner as books. Inquiries related to the use of government documents should be directed to the Government Documents Department on the first floor of the O'Neill Library.

Media Services

The Media Services Department in O'Neill Library houses information in many formats — videocassettes, 16mm films, audiocassettes, 35mm slides, phonograph records, filmstrips, and computer disks. All materials are used in the library in small group rooms or individually with headsets. The Department collects materials in all subject areas within the university's teaching and research interests.

New England Library Information Network/ OCLC

Through membership in the New England Library Information Network (NELINET), our users have on-line access to publishing, cataloging, and inter-library loan location information from the data bank of OCLC, Inc. which contains over 10 million records from the Library of Congress and some 2,900 other contributing institutions in North America.

Special Collections

Rare and valuable books, manuscripts and archives form Special Collections. Access is controlled because of their scarcity, value or fragile nature. Outstanding collections are listed below. Contact Special Collections for further information.

Hilaire Belloc Collection and Archives, 1870–1953

The world's most complete assemblage of materials dealing with this controversial British Catholic "publicist." Includes his personal library, all published works, most of his correspondence and manuscripts.

Liturgy and Life, 1925–1975

Formed by William J. Leonard, S.J., this ever-growing collection of books, ephemera, and the personal papers of the twentieth century pioneer liturgists documents the life of the Church in America in the pre-Vatican II era. Highlights include books on pastoral and devotional literature and liturgical theory and commentary, and thousands of devotional items.

Citywide Coordinating Council Archives, 1975–1978

Complete records of the council formed to desegregate the Boston school system as ordered by Judge Arthur Garrity.

Robert F. Drinan, S.J. Papers, 1970–

Covers his congressional term as representative for the Fourth Massachusetts Congressional District, 1970–1980 and his continuing work for the Americans for Democratic Action, 1980–.

Irish Collection

Formed by Helen Landreth, the eminent scholar of Robert Emmet and the Irish Rebellion, the collection richly represents the periods 1790–1810 and 1850–1885. Included also are samplings of the Irish literary renaissance poets and playwrights, and writers and private presses of Ireland today.

Rita Kelleher Collection

In recognition of her twenty-five years of service to the School of Nursing, including twenty years as Dean, this collection contains archival, historical, research, and other significant materials in nursing.

Jesuitana Collection, 1543–1773

Includes rare works dealing with missionary letters written from the Far East in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, works of science, on Biblical exegesis and on classical scholarship. An original holograph letter from St. Francis Xavier to John III, King of Portugal, dated 31 January 1552 crowns this exceptional body of unusual works.

Rex Stout Collection and Archives, 1886–1975

Famed creator of the Nero Wolfe mysteries, Stout is here represented by the best collection in existence of his personal manuscripts, correspondence, editions and secondary sources, together with his own library.

Francis Thompson Collection, 1859–1907

The most complete body of original material by Francis Thompson, one of the foremost poets of the British Catholic literary renaissance. Includes autograph manuscripts, 1500 frames of microfilm of hitherto unknown manuscripts, and first editions. There is also material by and about Coventry Patmore.

Meynell Family Collection

The Meynell Family Collection is both an adjunct to the Francis Thompson Collection and important in its own right. Includes correspondence, first editions and works about the poet Alice Meynell, her publisher husband Wilfred, and their children Francis, the proprietor of the Nonesuch Press, and Viola.

Nicholas M. Williams Collection

A collection assembled by Joseph Williams, S.J. in honor of his father. The emphasis on Jamaica and its black culture is supplemented by West African roots and South American parallelisms. Includes the Anansi Folktale Archives.

Other collections include:

- Maurice Baring Collection, 1874–1945
- Bookbuilders of Boston Archives, 1938–
- Burns, Oates and Washbourne Collection, 1847–1954
- Gibert Keith Chesterton Collection, 1874–1936
- Annie Christitch (Christic) Papers, 1885–1977
- Charlotte Louisa Hawkins Dempster Collection, 1835–1913
- Eleanor Early Papers, 1895–1969
- Eire Society of Boston Archives

Special Nursing Collections*O'Neill Library*The Boston College Guild of St. Luke of Boston Health Ethics Collection

Initiated in 1974, this contains books, pamphlets, periodicals, reprints, and audio-visual materials which concern the ethics of medicine and health care.

National Health Planning Information Center

O'Neill Library is one of the twenty-six United States and European depositories for NHPIC non-copyrighted materials in microfiche format. These cover a variety of topics relevant to health planning and resources with a strong nursing component. Consult reference librarians for additional information in regard to the scope and use of this collection.

University Archives

Archives are the official non-current papers and records of an institution that are deemed worthy of permanent preservation for their legal, fiscal or historical values. The University Archives contain the office records and documents of the various University offices, academic and otherwise, copies of all University publications, including student publications, movie footage of Boston College football, some audio-visual materials, and tape recordings of the University Lecture Series and other significant events. A significant collection of photographs documents the pictorial history of Boston College. Alumni, faculty, and Jesuit records are also preserved. A museum houses various ephemera and memorabilia that accompany the documents. In addition, the Archives are the repository for the documents of Newton College of the Sacred Heart (1946–1975); The Jesuit Education Association (1934–1970); the Catholic International Education Office (1952–1976); and the documents of the Jesuit Community at Boston College (1863– ).

The Language Laboratory

The Language Laboratory serves all of the language departments, and provides English for Foreign Students. In addition to its 70 state-of-the-art listening/recording stations and dual-teacher consoles, the facility includes video and film viewing rooms and three audio-interfaced microcomputers. The Laboratory's audio and videotape collection, computer software, and other audio-visual learning aids, directly support and/or supplement the curriculum requirements in foreign language, literature and music.

Doug Flutie

Boston College's Heisman Trophy Winner

Doug Flutie, without question one of the finest quarterbacks ever to play college football, won the 1984 Heisman Trophy as the outstanding player in all of college football this year. In achieving this magnificent honor, he set the all time major college career passing record (10,579 yards), and the all time major college career total offense record (11,054 yards). He was a First Team All America selection, and was named to United Press International and Sporting News "Player of the Year" honors. He was selected as captain of the Kodak All America squad, and was winner of the prestigious Maxwell Club Trophy as the nation's premier player.

Flutie's scholastic achievement was similarly recognized as he was chosen as a recipient of a National Football Foundation post-graduate scholarship, and was nominated as a candidate for a Rhodes Scholarship by Boston College.

Locally, Doug won the ECAC Player of the Year Award; the Gold Helmet Award, presented by the New England Football Writers Association; the O'Melia Trophy, as the MVP of the BC-Holy Cross game; and the George Bulger Lowe Award, presented by the Gridiron Club of Boston to the region's outstanding player.

The highlights of Doug's senior year were as numerous as they were sparkling. THE 48-yard touchdown pass with no time left on the clock that gave Boston College a 47-45 victory over the Miami Hurricanes, 1983 National Champions, ranked as one of the most thrilling plays in college football history. Other highlights included two touchdown passes on fourth-down plays leading the Eagles to a 38-31 comeback win over the Alabama Crimson Tide at Birmingham. Doug's six touchdown passes in a 52-20 romp over North Carolina set still another school record. He pitched for four touchdowns against Western Carolina and had three scoring tosses in the games against Rutgers, Army and Holy Cross. His best yardage output of the year was 472 yards against Miami as he connected on 34 of 46 aerials (73.9%) without an interception, the highest full-game percentage of his career. Doug also has the distinction of passing for more yards against a single opponent than any other player in college history, 1420 yards against the Penn State Nittany Lions (135 in his first freshman game; 520 in 1982; 380 in 1983; and 447 this past season).

Overall Achievements

During the year 1984-1985, nine Boston College teams were nationally ranked, and nine teams won league, conference or district championships. 22 Boston College student athletes were chosen for "All-America" teams. Baseball captain Rick Murphy was named "Academic All-America." In addition to his many football honors, Doug Flutie was awarded a National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame post-graduate scholarship, and was named one of the NCAA's "Top Five" senior student athletes.

Seven Boston College coaches were named "Coach of the Year" in their respective sports: Jack Bicknell, football (New England and CBS-TV National Coach of the Year); Len Ceglarski, hockey (National Coach of the Year); Margo Plotzke, women's basketball (BIG EAST Coach of the Year); Jack McDonald, men's cross-country (BIG EAST and NCAA District I); Dick Mahoney, women's cross-country (NCAA District I); Tom Groden, swimming (New England); and Bill Toof, skiing (Eastern Collegiate Ski Conference).
