Foreword

The Boston College Fact Book is a summary of significant statistics gathered from various sources throughout the University. Once again, we wish to extend sincere thanks and appreciation for the excellent cooperation and assistance received from these many sources.

The purpose of the Fact Book is to produce a single-source publication and reference document touching upon and integrating all aspects of the institution's people and its operations. We do wish to point out to all users that the information presented herein was compiled at a specific time — July-September, 1990 — to reflect the Academic Year 1989-1990, as well as the most current enrollment statistics for 1990-1991.

The majority of the information is extracted from management reports produced on a regular basis by the various source offices. When reviewing the figures presented we advise you to always note the time frame referenced in the individual tables, and to contact responsible offices should you have further questions.

With this 19th edition, we continue our efforts to produce a Fact Book that provides both current information and an historical perspective. We welcome your comments and suggestions for additional information that might be included or improvements in the way information is presented.

The University Objective

As a university established by the Society of Jesus, Boston College is devoted to the moral and intellectual education of its students and to the general advancement of human understanding. It is founded on the belief in God the Creator and Redeemer who, by His example and teaching, and by the unique natural faculties He has bestowed upon mankind, provides for the guidance of human life. Its Jesuit faculty, so closely associated with both the religious and humanistic aspects of the University from the beginning, particularly manifests its dedication to this comprehensive quest for truth.

It is the purpose of Boston College to cultivate the attitudes and to provide the means essential to achieve:

1. respect for truth as the primary concern of the academic community;
2. freedom of inquiry as indispensable for attaining truth;
3. a faculty of competent scholars and teachers to direct the process of student development;
4. a curriculum that presents the content and the spirit of the liberal arts, in conjunction with academic specialization and professional education;
5. an intellectual reflection on religious experience and a respect for its value within the educational enterprise.

Boston College welcomes to its community all persons, regardless of race, creed, color, sex, age, or handicap who respect its vision and desire to share in fulfilling its purpose.

A Brief History of Boston College

Boston College was founded by the Society of Jesus in 1863, and is one of twenty-eight Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States. With three teachers and twenty-two students, the school opened its doors on September 5, 1864. At the outset and for more than seven decades of its first century, the college remained an exclusively liberal arts institution with emphasis on the Greek and Latin classics, English and modern languages and with more attention to philosophy than to the physical or social sciences. Religion of course had its place in the classroom as well as in the nonacademic life of the college.

Originally located on Harrison Avenue in the South End of Boston, where it shared quarters with the Boston College High School, the College outgrew its urban setting toward the end of its first fifty years. A new location was selected in Chestnut Hill, then almost rural, and four parcels of land were acquired in 1907. A design competition for the development of the campus was won by the firm of Maginnis and Walsh, and ground was broken on June 19, 1909, for the construction of Gasson Hall. It is located on the site of the Lawrence farmhouse, in the center of the original tract of land purchased by Father Gasson, and is built largely of stone taken from the surrounding property. Because of its historic value, Gasson was completely restored in 1976 in order to preserve its familiar Gothic spires for future generations of students and alumni.

Later purchases doubled the size of the property, with the addition of the upper campus in 1941, and the lower campus with the purchase of the Lawrence Basin and adjoining land in 1949. In 1974 Boston College acquired Newton College of the Sacred Heart, a mile-and-a-half from the main campus. With fifteen buildings standing on forty acres, it is now the site of the Boston College Law School, as well as several academic departments, and dormitories housing over 800 students, primarily freshmen.

Though incorporated as a University since its beginning, it was not until its second half-century that Boston College began to fill out the dimensions of its University charter. The Summer Session was inaugurated in 1924; the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences in 1925; the Law School, 1929; the Evening College, 1929; the Graduate School of Social Work, 1936; the College of Business Administration, 1938. The latter, along with its Graduate School established in 1957, is now known as The Wallace E. Carroll School of Management. The Schools of Nursing and Education were founded in 1947 and 1952, respectively. Weston Observatory, founded in 1928, was accepted as a Department of Boston College in 1947, offering courses in geophysics and geology.

In 1927 Boston College conferred one earned bachelor's degree and fifteen master's degrees on women through the Extension Division, the precursor of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, the Evening College, and the Summer Session. By 1970 all undergraduate programs had become coeducational. Today women students comprise more than half of the University's enrollment, and nearly 45 percent of a total alumni body of approximately 98,000 are women.

Now the fourth largest private university in New England, with full- and part-time enrollment of over 14,500, Boston College consists of eleven schools, colleges, and institutes offering thirteen degree programs and one certification program.

All student credit hours earned by part-time students in a given school are divided by the number of student credit hours that defines a full-time student in that school. In the Evening College 12 credit hours equal one FTE. In the other undergraduate schools, 15 credit hours equal one FTE. In the Graduate School of Arts & Sciences, 7 credit hours equal one FTE. In the other graduate schools, 12 credit hours equal one FTE.

** The Graduate School of Arts & Sciences includes the graduate programs in Education and Nursing.

*September, January, and May graduations combined.

** The large increase in M.S. degrees granted is due to a change in the M.S. in Nursing program. In the past most students completed this program in the summer and graduated in September. The revised program now allows most students to graduate in May. The 1989-1990 graduation statistics include therefore two "classes" in one year. This is a one-time anomaly.

Note: In an effort to minimize statistical detail, the above data does not include Boston College graduate student assistance (approximately $4.6 million in 1989-90) administered by the various schools and departments. Also excluded are the Nursing Loan Program ($192,950 in 1989-90), a variety of government fellowships or scholarships from fraternal organizations and clubs ($1,503,000 in 1989-90), and Higher Education Loans processed by the Financial Aid Office and disbursed by banks ($17,242,728 in 1989-90), all of which are open to both undergraduate and graduate students. (In addition, the University processed parental loans totaling $5,606,771 from banks and the Massachusetts Education Loan Authority.)

Special Library Services

Quest - Library Information System

The Quest Computer system of the Boston College Libraries provides access to 1.2 million volumes including books, media materials, microforms, newspapers and periodicals. Quest may be searched by author, title, subject or key word from terminals in the libraries or by dialing in to the system from other locations on campus. Also, major periodical indexes in the humanities, social sciences and the sciences may be searched by selecting the QWIL database when using the system.

Computer Searching

A state of the art CD-ROM network in the O'Neill Library gives patrons immediate on-site access to many important and high use databases in the fields of education, psychology, business, the social sciences, nursing and medicine, and public affairs. Dial-in access to this network is planned from other campus libraries. Additional CD-ROM databases are available on individual workstations in the O'Neill Library. New databases are added regularly and patrons should check with the Reference Department for a list of current titles.

In addition to the search capabilities available through Quest and CD-ROM, the Libraries offer patrons and researchers access to several hundred on-line databases that may be used for the retrieval of bibliographic information, text, and statistical information. To use these databases, a researcher may plan a search strategy with a reference librarian and have the librarian perform the search, or the researcher may choose from among a smaller number of on-line services, such as Dow Jones or BRS/After Dark, and, after training, perform the search himself/herself for a lesser fee. The Law School Library has on-line access to LEXIS and WESTLAW as well as other databases. Access to some of these files may be limited by contract to members of the Law School community.

The Libraries also facilitate access to many computerized databases in business, economics, and the social sciences on magnetic tape. The tapes are purchased by the Libraries and are housed in the University computing facility.

Contact the Reference Department for more information, and to arrange for demonstrations, workshops, or presentations to classes or departments.

Interlibrary Loan

The Interlibrary Loan Service is offered to students, faculty, administrators, and staff to facilitate obtaining materials not available in the Boston College Libraries. Books, photocopies of journal articles, microfilm, theses, and government documents may be borrowed from other libraries. Except for unusual items, the waiting period is from one to four weeks; for anyone willing to use the material at the holding library, a computerized system at the reference desk will provide locations. Request forms and further information are available from the Interlibrary Loan staff in each library.

Boston Library Consortium

The library is a member of the Boston Library Consortium, a group of area libraries which includes Brandeis, Boston University, Tufts, Wellesley, Northeastern, MIT, Massachusetts State Library, Boston Public Library, and the University of Massachusetts System. Faculty and graduate students may apply for a Consortium borrower's card at the Reference Department in the O'Neill Library. The Consortium maintains a central office at the Boston Public Library. Further information may be found in the User Guide and the Consortium Handbook, available in all libraries.

United States Government Publications

In 1964, Boston College was designated as one of the Federal Depository Libraries for this congressional district. This status entitles the O'Neill Library to receive, on a selective basis, United States government publications at no cost with the stipulation that they be made available to the general public. Most of the material circulates in the same manner as books. Inquiries related to the use of government documents should be directed to the Government Documents Department on the first floor of the O'Neill Library.

Media Department

The Media Department on the second floor of the O'Neill Library houses information in many formats — videocassettes, videodiscs, 16mm films, phonodiscs, audiocassettes, compact discs, sound filmstrips, and slides. All materials may be used by patrons in individual carrels or, when accompanied by a faculty member, in meeting rooms. Loans are restricted to BC faculty members and librarians. The Department collects nonprint materials in all subject areas within the University's teaching and research interests. The Vision Resources area within the Department has adaptive computer hardware and software for students with vision impairments.

New England Library Information Network/OCLC

Through membership in the New England Library Information Network (NELINET), our users have on-line access to publishing, cataloging, and interlibrary loan location information from the data bank of OCLC, Inc. which contains over 18 million bibliographic records from the Library of Congress and from 4,000 other libraries in North America.

John J. Burns Library of Rare Books and Special Collections

The University's special collections, including the University's Archives, are housed in the magnificently appointed John J. Burns Library, located in the Bapst Library Building, north entrance. The distinguished and varied collections of the Honorable John J. Burns Library speak eloquently of the University's commitment to the preservation and dissemination of human knowledge. The Burns Library is home to nearly one hundred thousand volumes, more than three million manuscripts, and important collections of architectural records, maps, art works, photographs, films, artifacts, and ephemera. These materials are housed in the climate-controlled, secure environment of Burns either because of their rarity or because of their importance as part of a special collection. While treated with special care, these resources are available for use at Burns to all qualified students, faculty, and researchers. Indeed, their use is strongly encouraged, and visitors to Burns are always welcome, either simply to browse or to make use of the collections.

Though its collections cover virtually the entire spectrum of human knowledge, the Burns Library has achieved international recognition in several specific areas of research, most notably: Irish studies; British Catholic authors; Jesuitana; fine print; Catholic liturgy and life in America, 1925-1975; Boston history; Caribbeana; and Congressional archives. ## University Archives

Archives are the official noncurrent papers and records of an institution that are deemed worthy of preservation for their legal, fiscal, or historical values. The University Archives contain the office records and documents of the various University offices, academic and otherwise, copies of all University publications, including student publications, movie footage of Boston College football, some audiovisual materials, and tape recordings of the University Lecture Series and other significant events. A significant collection of photographs documents the pictorial history of Boston College. Alumni, faculty, and Jesuit records are also preserved. In addition, the Archives are the repository for the documents of Newton College of the Sacred Heart (1946-1975); The Jesuit Education Association (1934-1970); the Catholic International Education Office (1952-1976); and the documents of the Jesuit Community of Boston College (1863- ).

The Language Laboratory

The Language Laboratory, serving all the language departments, English for Foreign Students, and the Boston College community at large, is located in Lyons 313. In addition to its 66 state-of-the-art listening/recording stations and dual-teacher console, the facility includes video and film viewing rooms, microcomputers, and a short-wave radio. The Lab's audio and videotape collection, computer software, and other audio-visual learning aids directly support and/or supplement the curriculum requirements in foreign language, foreign literature, and foreign music. Lab materials are designed to assist users in the acquisition and maintenance of aural comprehension, oral and written proficiency, and cultural awareness. Prominent among the holdings introduced in the Lab in 1989 are SCOLA (Satellite Communications for Learning) international news broadcasts. These live or near-live news broadcasts in Chinese, French, German, Greek, Italian, Japanese, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish and other languages are received daily via satellite at Boston College, videotaped by the Audiovisual Department, and stored and viewed in the Language Lab. The Language Laboratory Director and student lab assistants are available during the day and evening to assist students (undergraduate and graduate) and faculty in the operation of equipment and selection of appropriate materials for their course-related or personal language needs.

Information Processing Support

The department of Information Processing Support (IPS) provides computing and communications support services to the Boston College community. Among the multitude of service and support functions that IPS offers, the three most significant areas are the Workstation program; the Training program; and basic Consulting services. The Workstation program organizes the distribution of microcomputers and terminals to faculty and staff throughout the university. It is responsible for soliciting workstation requests, determining user needs, designing workstation configurations, ordering systems, and scheduling distribution. The Training program offers more than 100 different classes each year on a wide variety of applications and topics. IPS Consulting services provide advisement, consulting, and problem resolution services to Boston College faculty, staff, and students. The following tables present a cumulative summary of the number of workstations (microcomputers and terminals) owned by the university; the number of people attending IPS training classes annually; and the annual number of user requests for assistance received by IPS staff.

Management Information Systems

The department of Management Information Systems (MIS) develops and maintains the University's information systems. Each year MIS receives 450 to 500 requests for changes or enhancements to existing programs and development of new systems. The time needed to complete these changes, enhancements, and new systems can range from two hours to many months. The Boston College information systems environment is dynamic, complex, and constantly open to change. Users of CICS (IBM's Customer Information Control System), across the university, access over 2000 different screen formats in the on-line production system. Each night more than 120 scheduled computer jobs are run in "batch" producing grade reports, paychecks, registration forms, bills, labels, and other vital documents. The table below presents a summary of selected performance statistics for fiscal years 1987-88 and 1989-90.

Boston College Athletic Director Bill Flynn Retires

William J. (Bill) Flynn, who has been Director of Athletics at Boston College since 1957, announced in August 1990 that he was retiring from the position. Commenting on Flynn's retirement, Boston College President J. Donald Monan, S.J. said: "For 33 years, Boston College has been uniquely blessed in having Bill Flynn as our athletic director. Bill brought to his position a clear understanding of the academic mission of the University and an intense appreciation of the excitement and vitality sports can bring to a young person's development. To many, Bill has been trusted friend, skillful executive, imaginative builder and pillar of integrity."

Bill Flynn has been synonymous with Boston College athletics for nearly 50 years. He was an outstanding student-athlete (winning nine varsity letters in football, hockey and baseball) and was captain of the 1938 Eagle football team. After service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation during World War II, Bill returned to B.C. as professor of mathematics and assistant football coach, and later served as Executive Secretary of the school's Alumni Association before being named Director of Athletics on July 1, 1957.

In the 33 years that he has been at the helm of the Boston College Athletic Association, the university's athletic program has grown from five to 31 varsity sports (16 for men, 15 for women), and these teams have represented Boston College at the highest levels of intercollegiate athletic competition and achievement. In addition, Boston College offers its students a variety of athletic programs at other levels, including intramural sports, club sports, instruction and unstructured recreation.

Much of the credit for the physical growth and overall excellence in intercollegiate athletics is due to Bill's dedication, determination and sacrifice. Under his guidance, Alumni Stadium was relocated and enlarged in 1957, and was expanded another 6,000 seats in 1971 to its current capacity of 32,000. A new east side upper deck was added to Alumni Stadium in 1986, and construction on the Silvio O. Conte Forum, the University's new athletic and convocation center, was completed in 1988. Commander Shea Field (baseball), Jack Ryder Track and the since demolished McHugh Forum hockey rink and Roberts Center basketball arena were also all erected under Bill's guidance.

In 1979, Boston College's multi-purpose student recreation center was named the "William J. Flynn Student Recreation Complex" in honor of this vibrant man whose foresight, planning and work made construction and operation of the building possible. It was opened in 1972, and was nearly doubled in size with the construction of a 1976 addition.

That was the first and only time in the history of Boston College that a building was named after a current employee.

Bill Flynn has maintained Boston College's high academic standards throughout this unparalleled period of athletic growth. In 1984, he helped institute the Boston College Office of Learning Resources for Student-Athletes, which provides academic advisement, monitoring and support services to the University's nearly 800 male and female varsity student-athletes. Today, Boston College enjoys one of the highest graduation rates for student-athletes in the nation. In 1990, Boston College was one of 12 Division I-A football schools receiving citations from the College Football Association for graduating more than 70 per cent of its scholarship football players. This is the fourth consecutive year in which Boston College has been so honored by the CFA.

Bill has received a host of honors celebrating his many contributions to college athletics. In 1979, he was voted President of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) — only the second Director of Athletics ever to be chosen for that prestigious post. He won the 1984 Distinguished American Award of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Bill is a past member of the NCAA Executive Council and the NCAA Television Committee. In 1969-70, Bill served as the NCAA's secretary-treasurer, and was president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in 1977-78. In 1982, NACDA honored Bill by naming him winner of the James J. Corbett Award, symbolic of outstanding achievements and contributions to athletic administration. Bill has served on the Honors Court of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, and the "Most Valuable Player" Award given in each year's Kickoff Classic football game bears his name.
