Foreword

The Boston College Fact Book is a summary of significant statistics gathered from various sources throughout the University. Once again, we wish to extend sincere thanks and appreciation for the excellent cooperation and assistance received from these many sources.

The purpose of the Fact Book is to produce a single-source publication and reference document touching upon and integrating all aspects of the institution's people and its operations. We do wish to point out to all users that the information presented herein was compiled at a specific time — July-September, 1992 — to reflect the Academic Year 1991-1992, as well as the most current enrollment statistics for 1992-1993.

The majority of the information is extracted from management reports produced on a regular basis by the various source offices. When reviewing the figures presented we advise you to always note the time frame referenced in the individual tables, and to contact responsible offices should you have further questions.

With this 21st edition, we continue our efforts to produce a Fact Book that provides both current information and an historical perspective. We welcome your comments and suggestions for additional information that might be included or improvements in the way information is presented.

The University Objective

As a university established by the Society of Jesus, Boston College is devoted to the moral and intellectual education of its students and to the general advancement of human understanding. It is founded on the belief in God the Creator and Redeemer who, by His example and teaching, and by the unique natural faculties He has bestowed upon mankind, provides for the guidance of human life. Its Jesuit faculty, so closely associated with both the religious and humanistic aspects of the University from the beginning, particularly manifests its dedication to this comprehensive quest for truth.

It is the purpose of Boston College to cultivate the attitudes and to provide the means essential to achieve:

1. respect for truth as the primary concern of the academic community;
2. freedom of inquiry as indispensable for attaining truth;
3. a faculty of competent scholars and teachers to direct the process of student development;
4. a curriculum that presents the content and the spirit of the liberal arts, in conjunction with academic specialization and professional education;
5. an intellectual reflection on religious experience and a respect for its value within the educational enterprise.

Boston College welcomes to its community all persons, regardless of race, creed, color, sex, age, or handicap who respect its vision and desire to share in fulfilling its purpose.

A Brief History of Boston College

Boston College was founded by the Society of Jesus in 1863, and is one of twenty-eight Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States. With three teachers and twenty-two students, the school opened its doors on September 5, 1864. At the outset and for more than seven decades of its first century, the college remained an exclusively liberal arts institution with emphasis on the Greek and Latin classics, English and modern languages and with more attention to philosophy than to the physical or social sciences. Religion of course had its place in the classroom as well as in the nonacademic life of the college.

Originally located on Harrison Avenue in the South End of Boston, where it shared quarters with the Boston College

High School, the College outgrew its urban setting toward the end of its first fifty years. A new location was selected in Chestnut Hill, then almost rural, and four parcels of land were acquired in 1907. A design competition for the development of the campus was won by the firm of Maginnis and Walsh, and ground was broken on June 19, 1909, for the construction of Gasson Hall. It is located on the site of the Lawrence farmhouse, in the center of the original tract of land purchased by Father Gasson, and is built largely of stone taken from the surrounding property.

Later purchases doubled the size of the property, with the addition of the upper campus in 1941, and the lower campus with the purchase of the Lawrence Basin and adjoining land in 1949. In 1974 Boston College acquired Newton College of the Sacred Heart, a mile-and-a-half from the main campus. With fifteen buildings standing on forty acres, it is now the site of the Boston College Law School, as well as several academic departments, and dormitories housing over 800 students, primarily freshmen.

Though incorporated as a University since its beginning, it was not until its second half-century that Boston College began to fill out the dimensions of its University charter. The Summer Session was inaugurated in 1924; the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences in 1925; the Law School, 1929; the Evening College, 1929; the Graduate School of Social Work, 1936; the College of Business Administration, 1938. The latter, along with its Graduate School established in 1957, is now known as The Wallace E. Carroll School of Management. The Schools of Nursing and Education were founded in 1947 and 1952, respectively. Weston Observatory, founded in 1928, was accepted as a Department of Boston College in 1947, offering courses in geophysics and geology.

The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences began programs at the doctoral level in 1952. Now courses leading to the doctorate are offered by twelve Arts and Sciences departments plus Education and Nursing. The Carroll Graduate School of Management and the Graduate School of Social Work also offer doctoral programs.

In 1927 Boston College conferred one earned bachelor's degree and fifteen master's degrees on women through the Extension Division, the precursor of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, the Evening College, and the Summer Session. By 1970 all undergraduate programs had become coeducational. Today women students comprise more than half of the University's enrollment.

*September, January, and May graduations combined.

 The large increase in M.S. degrees granted in 1989-90 was due to a change in the M.S. in Nursing program. In the prior years most students completed this program in the summer and graduated in September. The revised program now allows most students to graduate in May. The 1989-1990 graduation statistics included therefore two "classes" in one year. This was a one-time anomaly.

¹This statistic includes regular university scholarships and grants (through the operating budget), faculty kin tuition remission, minority scholarships, athletic grants, Jesuit Reduction, Alumni Association Scholarships, and endowed monies for scholarships.

²State scholarship funds to students from Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Maryland, Maine, New Hampshire; Gilbert Grants, and Herter Scholarships.

³Pell Grant eligibility is determined directly by the Federal Government.

⁴These loan funds (formerly called "National Direct Student Loans") are obtained by Federal Government contributions, Boston College contributions, and collections of previous loans awarded.

⁵This is a duplicated total since some students receive more than one type of aid.

Note: In an effort to minimize statistical detail, the above data does not include Boston College graduate student assistance (approximately $5.5 million in 1991-92) administered by the various schools and departments. Also excluded are the Nursing Loan Program ($213,725 in 1991-92), a variety of government fellowships or scholarships from fraternal organizations and clubs ($1,751,580 in 1991-92), and Higher Education Loans processed by the Financial Aid Office and disbursed by banks ($20,124,106 in 1991-92), all of which are open to both undergraduate and graduate students. (In addition, the University processed parental loans totaling $9,957,456 from banks and the Massachusetts Education Loan Authority.)

Special Library Services

Quest – Library Information System

The Quest Computer system of the Boston College Libraries provides access to 1.3 million volumes including books, media materials, microforms, newspapers and periodicals. Quest may be searched by author, title, call number, subject or key word from terminals in the libraries or by dialing in to the system from other locations on campus. Also, major periodical indexes in the humanities, social sciences, law, and the sciences may be searched by selecting the QWIL database when using the system.

Computer Searching

State of the art CD-ROM networks in the O'Neill Library and the Law Library give patrons immediate on-site access to many important and high use databases in the fields of education, psychology, business, the social sciences, nursing and medicine, law, and public affairs. Dial-in access to the networks is available from other campus libraries. Additional CD-ROM databases are available on individual workstations in the O'Neill Library. New databases are added regularly and patrons should check with the Reference Department for a list of current titles.

In addition to the search capabilities available through Quest and CD-ROM, the Libraries offer patrons and researchers access to several hundred on-line databases that may be used for the retrieval of bibliographic information, text, and statistical information. To use these databases, a researcher may plan a search strategy with a reference librarian and have the librarian perform the search, or the researcher may choose from among a smaller number of on-line services, such as Dow Jones or BRS/After Dark, and, after training, perform the search himself/herself for a lesser fee. The Law School Library has on-line access to LEXIS and WESTLAW as well as other databases. Access to some of these files may be limited by contract to members of the Law School community.

The Libraries also facilitate access to many computerized databases in business, economics, and the social sciences on magnetic tape. The tapes are purchased by the Libraries and are housed in the University computing facility.

Contact the Reference Department for more information, and to arrange for demonstrations, workshops, or presentations to classes or departments.

Interlibrary Loan

The Interlibrary Loan Service is offered to students, faculty, administrators, and staff to facilitate obtaining materials not available in the Boston College Libraries. Books, photocopies of journal articles, microfilm, theses, and government documents may be borrowed from other libraries. Except for unusual items, the waiting period is from one to four weeks; for anyone willing to use the material at the holding library, a computerized system at the reference desk will provide locations. Request forms and further information are available from the Interlibrary Loan staff in each library.

Boston Library Consortium

The library is a member of the Boston Library Consortium, a group of area libraries which includes Brandeis, Boston University, Tufts, Wellesley, Northeastern, MIT, Massachusetts State Library, Boston Public Library, and the University of Massachusetts System. Faculty and graduate students may apply for a Consortium borrower's card at the Reference Department in the O'Neill Library. The Consortium maintains a central office at the Boston Public Library. Further information may be found in the User Guide and the Consortium Handbook, available in all libraries.

United States Government Publications

In 1964, Boston College was designated as one of the Federal Depository Libraries for this congressional district. This status entitles the O'Neill Library to receive, on a selective basis, United States government publications at no cost with the stipulation that they be made available to the general public. Most of the material circulates in the same manner as books. Inquiries related to the use of government documents should be directed to the Government Documents Department on the first floor of the O'Neill Library.

Media Department

The Media Department on the second floor of the O'Neill Library houses information in many formats — videocassettes, videodiscs, 16mm films, phonodiscs, audiocassettes, compact discs, sound filmstrips, and slides. All materials may be used by patrons in individual carrels or, when accompanied by a faculty member, in meeting rooms. Loans are restricted to BC faculty members and librarians. The Department collects nonprint materials in all subject areas within the University's teaching and research interests. The Vision Resources area within the Department has adaptive computer hardware and software for students with vision impairments.

New England Library Information Network/OCLC

Through membership in the New England Library Information Network (NELINET), our users have on-line access to publishing, cataloging, and interlibrary loan location information from the data bank of OCLC, Inc. which contains over 26 million bibliographic records from the Library of Congress and from 4,000 other libraries in North America.

John J. Burns Library of Rare Books and Special Collections

The University's special collections, including the University's Archives, are housed in the magnificently appointed John J. Burns Library, located in the Bapst Library Building, north entrance. The distinguished and varied collections of the Honorable John J. Burns Library speak eloquently of the University's commitment to the preservation and dissemination of human knowledge. The Burns Library is home to nearly one hundred thousand volumes, more than three million manuscripts, and important collections of architectural records, maps, art works, photographs, films, artifacts, and ephemera. These materials are housed in the climate-controlled, secure environment of Burns either because of their rarity or because of their importance as part of a special collection. While treated with special care, these resources are available for use at Burns to all qualified students, faculty, and researchers. Indeed, their use is strongly encouraged, and visitors to Burns are always welcome, either simply to browse or to make use of the collections.

Though its collections cover virtually the entire spectrum of human knowledge, the Burns Library has achieved international recognition in several specific areas of research, most notably: Irish studies; British Catholic authors; Jesuitana; fine print; Catholic liturgy and life in America, 1925-1975; Boston history; Caribbeana; and Congressional archives. It has also won acclaim for significant holdings on nursing, detective fiction, Thomas Merton, Japanese prints, Colonial and early Republic Protestantism, and banking.

Academic Development Center

The new Academic Development Center (ADC) is designed to support and enhance all aspects of academic excellence — Boston College's number one priority for the 1990's — by helping undergraduates, graduate students, and faculty improve learning quality and teaching effectiveness. The ADC, which opened its doors in September 1991, is located on the second floor of O'Neill Library in the Eileen M. and John M. Connors, Jr. Learning Center.

The ADC is a comprehensive, inclusive resource serving all of the University's students and faculty. To address the needs of the great majority of Boston College students, the Center provides tutoring for courses such as calculus, statistics, biology, chemistry, physics, nursing, accounting, and classical and foreign languages — along with training workshops in useful study skills and learning strategies. Graduate tutors in English help students strengthen their writing skills. (All ADC tutors are recommended and approved by their relevant academic departments; most are graduate students or outstanding seniors.)

The Center offers programs designed to challenge the most academically talented, highest achieving students — as well as programs designed to support those who are least prepared and most academically challenged. One member of the ADC's professional staff serves the needs of special populations, particularly those students with learning disabilities, helping to ensure their academic success at Boston College.

The Center also sponsors seminars, workshops, and discussions for faculty and graduate teaching fellows on strategies for successful teaching and learning. Through these and other activities, the new Academic Development Center plays an increasingly important role in enhancing the quality of academic life at Boston College.

University Archives

Archives are the official noncurrent papers and records of an institution that are deemed worthy of preservation for their legal, fiscal, or historical values. The University Archives contain the office records and documents of the various University offices, academic and otherwise, copies of all University publications, including student publications, movie footage of Boston College football, some audiovisual materials, and tape recordings of the University Lecture Series and other significant events. A significant collection of photographs documents the pictorial history of Boston College. Alumni, faculty, and Jesuit records are also preserved. In addition, the Archives are the repository for the documents of Newton College of the Sacred Heart (1946–1975); The Jesuit Education Association (1934–1970); the Catholic International Education Office (1952–1976); and the documents of the Jesuit Community of Boston College (1863–).

The Language Laboratory

The Language Laboratory, serving all the language departments, English for Foreign Students, and the Boston College community at large, is located in Lyons 313. In addition to its state-of-the-art listening/recording stations and dual-teacher console, the facility includes video and film viewing rooms, microcomputers, and a short-wave radio. The Lab's audio and videotape collection, computer software, and other audiovisual learning aids directly support and/or supplement the curriculum requirements in foreign language, foreign literature, and foreign music. Lab materials are designed to assist users in the acquisition and maintenance of aural comprehension, oral and written proficiency, and cultural awareness. Prominent among the Lab's holdings are SCOLA (Satellite Communications for Learning) international news broadcasts. These live or near-live news broadcasts in Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish and other languages are received via satellite at Boston College, videotaped by the Audiovisual Department, and stored and viewed in the Language Lab. The Language Laboratory Director and student lab assistants are available during the day and evening to assist students (undergraduate and graduate) and faculty in the operation of equipment and selection of appropriate materials for their course-related or personal language needs.

Information Processing Support

The department of Information Processing Support (IPS) serves as the main "interface" between the Boston College computing community and Information Technology. It provides computing and communications support to faculty, students, and staff through its three main units: Departmental Systems, Personal Computing Systems, and Special Services. The most significant areas of focus for IPS are:

- departmental computing and communications needs analyses, which includes helping to design and implement solutions to technology-related business needs and helping to manage the university's departmental computing resources;
- assisting community members with day-to-day problems that arise in their use of technology resources, and empowering them to more effectively address their business needs through more skillful usage of existing resources; and
- searching for solutions to relatively idiosyncratic and advanced problems that community members encounter.

The following tables summarize the statistical outcomes of some of the department's work during the last five years. Workstations (micro-computers and terminals) are presented as a cumulative number while the number of users trained and requests for assistance addressed are annual figures.

*CICS (IBM's Customer Information Control System) is the University's integrated, on-line administrative information system.

 The 56% growth in the volume of transactions from 1988-89 to 1989-90 was largely due the implementation of U-Buy, the University's on-line requisition system.

Management Information Systems

The department of Management Information Systems (MIS) develops and maintains the University's information systems. Each year MIS receives nearly 1,000 requests for changes or enhancements to existing programs and development of new systems. The time needed to complete these changes, enhancements, and new systems can range from two hours to many months. The Boston College information systems environment is dynamic, complex, and constantly open to change. Users of CICS (IBM's Customer Information Control System), across the university, access over 1,900 different screen formats in the on-line production system. Each night more than 195 scheduled computer jobs plus special requests are run in "batch" producing grade reports, paychecks, registration forms, bills, labels, and other vital documents. More recently, the MIS department is increasingly concerned with integrating the installation and implementation of desk-top and departmental solutions with existing and upgraded mainframe capabilities. The table below presents a summary of selected performance statistics for fiscal years 1987-88 through 1991-92*.

ATHLETICS

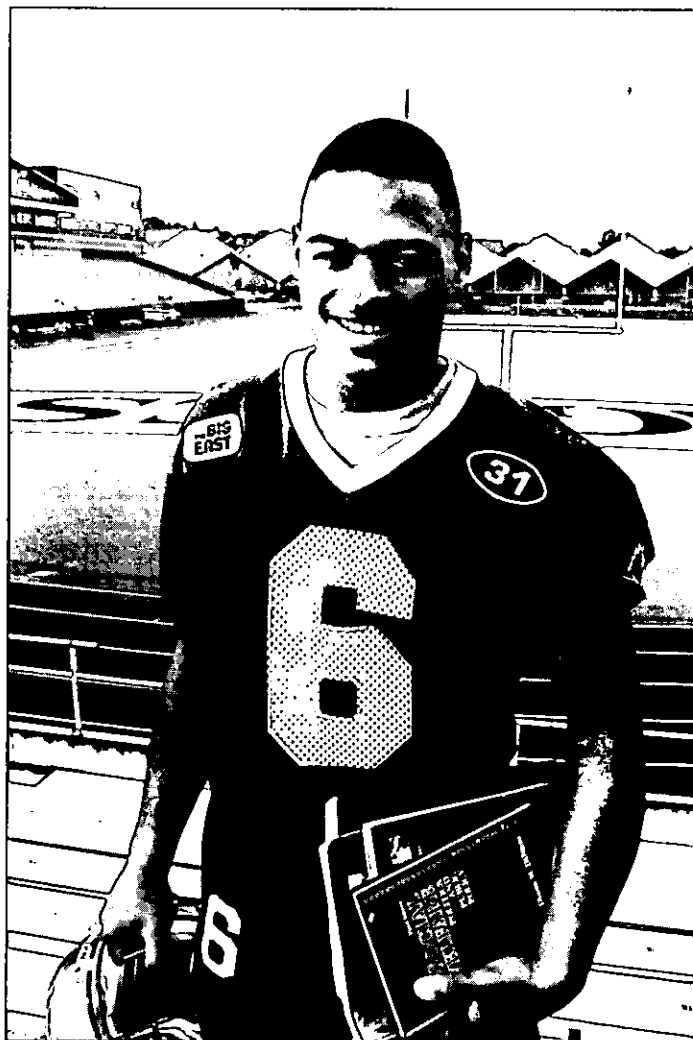

Boston College Wins CFA Academic Achievement Award for 100% Graduation Rate

The College Football Association (CFA) has named Boston College a winner of the Academic Achievement Award, presented annually to the member institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team. Boston College received the honor as 100 per cent of the Eagles' incoming class of 1986 was graduated within five years of registration. Texas Christian University also shared the honor with a perfect graduation rate among its football student-athletes. Previously, Boston College had been honored by the CFA for seven consecutive years for its consistently high rate of player graduation, but this marks the first time the Eagles have been the national leader since the award was established in 1981.

J. Donald Monan, S.J., President of Boston College, reflected the University's high regard for this academic accomplishment. "Having the highest graduation rate among Division 1-A teams in the nation should be a source of pride to our players this year. An even more lasting source of pride is the fact that year after year, the graduation rate of Boston College players has been among the nation's leaders. Their record is testimony to the seriousness of their commitment, both as athletes and as students."

Dr. Kevin Lyons, Boston College's Director of Learning Resources for Student-Athletes, was also named winner of the CFA Athletic Academic Advisor Award, for his part in the Eagles' sterling classroom performance. He will accept the Academic Achievement Award and the advisor's award at the Liberty Bowl Luncheon in Memphis in December.

In a similar study, published in USA Today in August, Boston College was acknowledged to have the highest graduation rate of any Division 1-A football program in the nation, with a success rate of 85 per cent among football recruits enrolled in 1983 and 1984, the base years of that study. BC's 85 per cent graduation rate puts it first on the list of major colleges ahead of Duke (84 per cent), Notre Dame (82), Northwestern (78), Ohio University (76), Stanford and Virginia (both 74), and California-Berkeley (70).

The USA Today poll also placed the Eagle athletic teams high among all BIG EAST Conference schools in graduation rates of scholarship student-athletes. In addition to the 85 per cent football graduation rate, the women's basketball team was first with a 100 per cent diploma completion level, and men's basketball was at 83 per cent. Overall, Boston College posted a student-athlete graduation rate of 89 per cent, the highest of the 10 BIG EAST Conference schools.
